The name of Fenton H. Millen is this week presented to Times readers as a candidate for Sheriff of St. Francois county. Mr. Allen is 38 years old, a native of this county, in the confines of which he has spent his entire life. He is a farmer, though he has spent several years working in the mines. His home is in Silver Springs, in the northern end of the county, that section that has usually been overlooked in the selection of candidates, even though it furnishes a large Democratic vote. This is one reason why Mr. Millen's neighbors and friends feel that his chances for securing the nomination for Sheriff should be unusually good, and they are showing considerable enthusiasm in his behalf.

Mr. Millen is himself a hard worker, an enthusiastic Democrat, descended from a long line of Democratic ancestors, and there is small doubt that his nomination would mean success in November, as he is an untiring worker and would never stop looking for votes until late evening of election day. His nomination would mean party success.

Mrs. S. S. Smith, who now lives in Cape Girardeau, arrived last Friday for a visit with his son, Postmaster J. B. Smith, and wife. For many years Mr. Smith was an honored and respected citizen of Farmington. He is now suffering from an affliction to his lower limbs, which impairs his getting about, but otherwise he is young and vigorous in appearance, though he is in his 87th year.

Last Friday night at the Monarch Theatre the High School boys, assisted by the H. S. Orchestra and by J. H. Tetley, who played the part of middleman, presented a creditable minstrel show. About twenty boys assisted in the program, which consisted of songs, jokes on prominent citizens, a jig, three special numbers and a debate, "Resolved, That Chicken Stealin' Ain't No Crime." A large crowd was in attendance and all seemed to be well entertained.

The program was such a success Friday night that it was repeated Saturday night at the High School auditorium. A fair-sized crowd was present that night.

The sum realized on the entertainments, considerably over $100, will go for the benefit of the Athletic Association.
